Email Processing

Email is the most utilized business communication tool in the world. Sending email is easy; executing comprehensive processing, indexing, and recovery solutions can be complex.

America's leader

Since the earliest days of commercial email, NDC has been a leader in processing all types of electronic messages. From mainstream systems such as Microsoft Exchange, Groupwise, cc:Mail and Lotus Notes — to specialty formats such as UNIXMAIL, and Iplanet. NDC has successfully processed every commercially available format from the last 30 years.

From Past To Present

We also have extensive experience in converting and ingesting legacy email into repositories such as Symantec Enterprise Vault, CA-Message Manager, HP-RISS, EMC EmailXtender, Zantaz and many more.

Our proprietary methods and tools have allowed us to process large volumes of data efficiently and accurately, on thousands of projects, for customers worldwide. These battle-tested techniques deliver the highest quality results for the most sensitive litigation, compliance and risk management initiatives.
